LEADERCAST RETURNS TO HEMET

On Friday May 5th, Leadercast returns to the Historic Hemet Theatre. Last year, over 100 local leaders participated in this dynamic leadership conference, along with over 100,000 leaders around the world.

Leadercast is the largest one-day conference on leadership in the world, taking place in Atlanta Georgia and simulcast to over 700 locations around the world. The Historic Hemet Theatre will be the only host site in the Inland Empire.

This year's theme is "Driven by Purpose" -- helping leaders inspire their team to strive for excellence toward a common mission. Keynote Speakers will be Andy Stanley (leadership author), Suzy Welsh (author & TV commentator), Molly Fletcher (former top sports agent & author), Dr. Henry Cloud (psychologist & author), Daniel Pink (behavior science expert & host of "Crowd Control"), Tyler Perry (director, playwright, actor, & Producer), Jess Ekstrom (CEO, Headbands of Hope), Jim McKelvey (co-founder of Square & founder of LaunchCode), Donald Miller (CEO of StoryBrand).

Returning this year will be motivational speaker Randy Powell as the live keynote speaker at the lunch break. Randy is a resident of Temecula and a life coach, helping leaders in the Inland Empire to become "extraordinary performers."

Registration for the conference is just $75 per person and includes continental breakfast and lunch. Sponsorships for the event have been provided by Walmart, Sam's Club, Southwest Riverside County Association of Realtors and Millennium Toastmasters Club.
