CCR TRIBUTE PACKS HHT...AGAIN

"Fortunate Son" is widely known as the very best tribute to "Creedence Clearwater Revival" and on Saturday November 21st they came to town to prove the case once again.

It was only last March that "Fortunate Son" first brought their dynamic tribute show to downtown Hemet. The show sold out quickly and earned rave reviews from local fans. The show was so impressive that the band was booked for a return engagement just 7 months later. And while the latest show did not quite sellout, the auditorium was packed with a very loud, enthusiastic crowd, proclaiming this show was even better than the last.

Lead Singer Brad Ford explained why the theatre has gained a reputation as one of the very best venues in Southern California. "The acoustics of the auditorium are exceptional and with the sound equipment provided by HHT and Tribe Pro Audio, the audio is incredible. There are other venues that also have great seating, but the dance floor in front of the stage at HHT really sets this theatre apart. Still, the best feature of all is the warmth and enthusiasm of the Hemet audiences. Nothing brings out the best in a band like an cheering crowd. That's what makes this theatre our favorite venue to play."
