HHT ANNOUNCES NEW SEASON OF TRIBUTE CONCERTS

On Saturday November 3rd, with an auditorium packed with CCR fans, the Historic Hemet Theatre announced its next season of Tribute Mania concerts to begin in January 2019.

Brad Ford and Fortunate Son were in town with their number one tribute to John Fogerty and Creedence Clearwater Revival. This show is one of HHT's most requested groups and tickets were sold out three weeks ahead.

The band was "on fire" all night. Brad told the crowd that they had really looked forward to the concert in Hemet. HHT is their very favorite venue to play because the acoustics are great and the audience is so enthusiastic. "This place is just like the venues that CCR would play out on tour," Brad explained.

After the show, Brad's wife Stephanie said that there is something special in the atmosphere at the theatre. "It has a sense of community that you just don't find in other venues. The small town cozy feeling in here is really very unique."

It was clear that the affection between band and audience was definitely mutual. The crowd clapped, cheered, and sang with every song, filling the dance floor with jubilant couples. Many fans commented that they thought the show was even better than the show last year which they had proclaimed, "The best show ever!"

Meanwhile, the Ticket Office was busy all evening with the first ticket sales for the upcoming season. Over half of the special VIP Season Tickets were snapped up by those in attendance.

Season One of the 2019 Tribute Mania Concert Series will be:

- Tribute to Bruno Mars with Bruno & the Hooligans on Saturday January 12th
- Tribute to Van Halen featuring Fan Halen on Saturday January 26th
- Tribute to Marvin Gaye featuring Let's Get It On on Saturday February 9th
