TWO HARD ROCK TRIBUTES HEAD TO HHT

Last weekend's boot-scootin' Tribute to Tim McGraw at the Historic Hemet Theatre was a huge hit for local country music fans, filling the dance floor with cowboy boots line-dancing up a storm. Although the crowd was smaller than usual, the performance was flawless and the enthusiasm was loud and energetic. After the show, Vegas McGraw's lead singer, Adam D Tucker, was swarmed by female fans, posing for dozens of photos as his muscular chest strained against the buttons of his shirt.

In contrast, the next two concerts in the Tribute Mania Series will feature the music of a couple of classic hard rock groups from the 1970's.

This group has performed across the nation and appeared on numerous national television shows. They have the look, the sound and the high-energy performance that will make you believe you are experiencing a live Aerosmith concert. The dance floor will be rockin' to classic songs like "Walk This Way," "Sweet Emotion," and "Toys in The Attic" as well as more current hits like "Dude Looks Like A Lady," "Jaded" and "Don't Wanna Miss A Thing."

Then on Saturday August 3rd, the spotlights will fall on the band, Ridin' The Storm Out and their hard rockin' Tribute to REO Speedwagon. This classic rock group sold more than 40 million records, including 13 hit songs, including "Keep On Loving You," "Can't Fight This Feeling," and "Take It On The Run." Ridin' The Storm Out performs their high-energy tribute across the Southwest, thrilling fans wherever they play.
